

Application to register a change of name for a child (under 18)

Births Deaths and Marriages Registration Act 1995 (BDMR Act).

General information

Eligibility

To apply to change the child's name in NSW, the child must be:

- under 18 years of age, and
- born in NSW, or
- born overseas AND a resident in NSW for at least the last 3 consecutive years immediately before the date of your application.

You must be born in NSW or overseas

If the child was born in Australia but not NSW, please apply to the Registry in the State or Territory where the birth is registered.

Multiple name changes

In NSW, you can only change a child's name once in a 12 month period and 3 times in their lifetime. Whilst exceptions exist these are subject to the Registrar's personal approval.

Both parents must apply

Both parents named on the child's birth certificate must apply to change their child's name.

If only one parent is applying

One parent can apply alone if:

- they are the only parent named on the child's birth certificate, or
- the other parent is deceased, or
- A court has specifically approved the propose change of name.

If neither parent is applying

An Australian court must have allocated parental responsibility for the child to person(s) other than the parent. Examples include:

- Minister of Family and Community Services, or
- grandparent(s),
- aunt and uncle, or
- other people with parental responsibility that are not the parents.

If the child is a restricted person

If the child is a restricted person, you must contact the supervising authority to seek permission. It is an offence to apply to change the child's name without permission from the supervising authority.

See page 3.

If the child has a criminal record

If the child has been convicted of any offence that is punishable by imprisonment for 12 months or more, you must advise us.

Note: 'An offence that is punishable by imprisonment for 12 months or more' does not mean that the child has been sentenced to this period of time for the offence. It relates to the maximum penalty the child could have received for that offence.

Permission for a police check

We request your permission to apply for a National Police Check with the NSW Police Force. There is no cost to this check. If you choose not to, we may ask you to provide a recent National Police Certificate for the child. This will be at your own cost.

Successful applications

To help us complete your application, you need to:

- return all original birth certificates and/or change of name certificates issued by the NSW Registry of Births Deaths & Marriages for the child;
- be honest and accurate on your application;
- explain why you want to change the child's name;
- choose a name that is not prohibited i.e. not rude, too long, or includes numbers or symbols. The name should not be a statement or phrase, or resemble an official title or rank recognised in Australia;
- advise all previous change of names and/or previous names that the child has used.

Note: that once the change of name has been registered and a certificate issued:

- The change of name certificate cannot be used to amend any details of a registered life event that occurred before the registration date of the change of name.
- Some organisations may not accept certificates if they are laminated.

Application to register a change of name for a child (under 18)

Births Deaths and Marriages Registration Act 1995 (BDMR Act).

Before lodging your application

Please read and complete all information on the application

Warning

It is an offence to make a false or misleading statement in any application or document under the BDMR Act. Penalties apply.

It is also an offence under Part 5A of the Crimes Act 1900 to provide false or misleading information or documents.

Can my application be refused?

Yes. The Registrar may refuse your application if:

- the child is ineligible, or
- the child has changed their name 3 times or more in NSW or another State, or
- the child has changed their name within the last 12 months in NSW or another State, or
- the new name would be a prohibited name.

The Registrar may require you to provide more documentation until satisfied of age and identity, and that the change of name is not made for a fraudulent or improper use.

Unsuccessful applications

The fee for registering a change of name includes processing the child's application and issue of certificate. If the child's application is declined or cancelled, only the certificate fee will be refunded. All change of name applications are recorded. You will be notified by the Registry if your application is unsuccessful, and given a reason.

Attach required identification

You must establish proof of the child's identity by:

- providing the required identity documents. If issued by overseas authorities they must be translated into English by an accredited translator, i.e. National Accreditation Authority for Translators and Interpreters (NAATI).

See page 5.

- providing photo identification for parents and child, if aged 12 years or more. If unable to provide official photo identification, you will need to provide a recent photo signed by a guarantor.

See pages 12, 13, 14

- providing evidence of any previous legal name change (e.g. marriage certificate, deed poll).

See page 9.

Use our Checklist

- Incomplete applications may cause delays. Before lodging your application, please make sure you have everything right.
See page 18.
- We request you return original NSW certificates. If you have lost the child's birth certificate and/or change of name certificate, you must complete the certificate return declaration on page 17.

See page 17.

Application to register a change of name for a child (under 18)

Births Deaths and Marriages Registration Act 1995 (BDMR Act).

Restricted persons

The BDMR Act restricts certain groups of persons from changing their name without the permission of a supervising authority.

It also restricts people from making a change of name on behalf of a restricted person. Restricted persons in NSW are:

- an inmate of a correctional centre.
- a person on remand.
- a parolee.
- a periodic detainee.
- a person subject to a supervision order.
- a forensic patient.
- a correctional patient.

Is the child required to get approval?

Persons under the supervision of the Commissioner of Corrective Services, the Mental Health Review Tribunal, or the NSW Police Commissioner, must obtain approval from that authority before making an application. Making an application without approval is an offence under the BDMR Act.

Exemptions to these restrictions

- Persons who have been convicted of an offence under a law of the Commonwealth.
- Persons who are the subject of a warrant under the Commonwealth Defence Force Discipline Act 1982 and are in a correctional centre pursuant to a punishment imposed under that Act.
- Persons who are detainees within the meaning of the Commonwealth Migration Act 1958 and who are held in a correctional centre.
- Persons who are in the keeping of a correctional officer under Section 250 of the Crimes (Administration of Sentences Act) 1999.
- Persons who are a former serious offender because of the commission or alleged commission of an offence under a law of the Commonwealth.

Is the child a registrable person?

- If the child is a registrable person under the Child Protection (Offenders Registration) Act 2000, you must contact the Child Protection and Sex Crimes Squad of the NSW Police, to seek permission to apply for a change of name.
- Note: It is an offence to apply for a change of name without permission of the Commissioner of the NSW Police.

If unsure of child's status, contact

- LawAccess NSW on 1300 888 529 (Monday to Friday 9am to 5pm excluding public holidays).

Privacy

The Registry is responsible for the administration of legislation including the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act 1995 and the Relationship Register Act 2010 and the regulations made under those Acts. We collect information under those Acts in order to register NSW life events accurately and securely in perpetuity, ensuring their integrity and confidentiality.

The Register is a permanent historical record and part of the civil records of NSW. It is not available for public scrutiny. Information held in the Register is used to issue certificates in accordance with our Access Policy and can be used for a range of other purposes including statistical analysis, medical research, community planning and law enforcement.

When you complete this form, we use the information that you provide to us to respond to your request (which may include determining your eligibility and making a decision on your application) and to prevent fraud. We may disclose your personal information to a third party to verify that the information that you have provided to us is correct.

For more information about how we handle personal information, including who we may disclose it to, please read our Privacy Collection Notice, available at <https://www.nsw.gov.au/births-deaths-marriages/about-us/privacy-collection-notice>.

Reasons for the child's change of name

Part 6: Why are you changing the child's name?

You need to provide a reason for the child's change of name application to be considered.

Write a brief statement explaining the reason for changing the child's name. One or two word explanations such as 'personal', 'professional', 'passport or 'driver licence' are not sufficient and may result in your application being unsuccessful.

Please supply any relevant documents to support your application.

Part 7: NSW born ONLY

Do you want the child's new name recorded on the birth certificate?

Yes The birth certificate will show the child's new name with a notation listing all the former name(s)

No The child's new name will not be shown on the birth certificate only. You will need to purchase a birth certificate to link your names.

The birth certificate will have an endorsement that a name change has been completed.
An additional certificate fee is required. See website for fees.

Many organisations will not accept this type of certificate for identification purposes.
If you choose this option, you will receive a Change of Name certificate.

⚠ You must return ALL the child's birth and/or change of name certificate(s) as they will no longer be valid after the child's change of name is complete.

Criminal records check

Part 8: Can we apply for a National Police check for the child with NSW Police?

You are not required by law to consent, however if you answer NO it may delay your application.

- Yes There is no cost involved.
- No We may ask you to purchase a National Police Certificate from the NSW Police. The Registry will contact you. Any certificate issued before the lodgement date of this application will NOT be accepted.

Part 9: Has the child been convicted of an offence that is punishable by imprisonment for 12 months or more?

'An offence that is punishable by imprisonment for 12 months or more' does not mean that child was sentenced to a term of imprisonment of 12 months or more. It relates to the maximum penalty the child could have received for that offence.

A conviction includes the making of an order under Section 10 of the Crimes (Sentencing Procedure) Act 1999.
A conviction does not include a spent conviction.

If you are unsure please contact LawAccess NSW on 1300 888 529.
